The brickworks are located on the outskirts of Sharpthorne village in West Sussex. Access to the site is through a residential area.

Residential properties and Bluebell steam railway are situated against site boundaries approximately 200 meters from the LPG installation

LPG Operation

LPG filling and subsequent storage in 1 x 60 tonne tank (butane) and 1 tonne tank (propane) supplying LPG via a liquid pipeline and vaporiser to brick making plant. The butane facility is filled on average 1-2 times/week.

LPG therefore minimal environmental impact.

Identified Risks

The highly flammable nature of LPG and its behaviour on uncontrolled release provides a serious potential risk to health of all employees and people within the factory perimeter.

The site has an approved MAPP (Major Accident Prevention Policy) in place, this policy has been compiled in accordance with the COMAH regulations. Its purpose is to demonstrate that due consideration has been given to meaning of the regulations, with particular regard to the welfare of the people on site and the environment.
