Cut Slips

Most bricks from the Ibstock range can be cut into slips. The recommended thickness will vary according to brick type and the needs of the project. In addition to the standard brick format, Fireborn, Linear and Elementix Rainscreen are also available.

Cut slips due to their flat backs and dimensional accuracy are ideal for adhesive bonding.

Casting Slips

Slips for precast concrete generally require a 'keyed back' to ensure the slips are embedded into the base mix prior to setting.

We manufacture extruded and stock bricks as well as the large format Fireborn units with specially designed keyways suitable for casting

Masonry Cutting Service, Coursing Bricks and Gable Cuts

We can call upon a wide range of specialist cutting equipment at our factories across the country.

This means that we can precisely cut all types of masonry and stone quickly and cost effectively and therefore removing the necessity for on-site cutting with the associated health and safety and quality implications. This is ideal for making coursing bricks and blocks and for gable pitches.
